

Joining the School Board

It sounds like a death sentence to some (or at least purgatory). But, in pondering how to personally bless our community, my thoughts turned to our local schools. Our community places high value on our children and our schools, so I decided to run for school board as a way to connect to the community, support something we could all agree was important, and simply do my best to bless those I serve. I was elected this fall and begin a 4 year term in December. We'll see if this is the valley of the shadow of death or not. But nonetheless, the Lord is with me.
